In the practicals, the students should learn and practice the approach to patients with internal diseases for their future dental practice. In this semester the teaching will focus again on medical history and physical examination, the interpretation of ECG and the results of laboratory and imaging methods, and, eventually, differential diagnosis and treatment possibilities in demonstrated cases.

Take your white coat, proper shoes, ISIC card, stethoscope, face mask or respirator.

The presence in 10 practicals is mandatory for the credit.

Practical exam will be performed as a part of the exam in the examination period.
